

We will be going back to school sometime

Since 23rd March 2020, most schools in England have been closed to most of the children. Some children still went to school each day because they have a parent who works as a key worker. Other children have been at home each day.

Home learning is not the same as learning in school. I have been doing some work given to me by my teachers and some things my parents have chosen for me to learn. These are some of the things I have been learning. (Write or draw them her)

This time in lockdown has become a new normal for me. I am usually doing my own routine each day and most days this is okay.

Sometime, we will be able to go back to school. The government makes this decision. They don't know when that will be yet because the virus is still making people ill. So, until then it is important that we follow the rules to stay at home. The government want to make sure we can be safe.

Lots of people feel anxious when something is unpredictable. To help me I can use a calendar to count my at home days. I can write the going back to school date on it when we know when that is.

I can use a daily schedule to work on my learning, my sensory activities and some relaxing time each day. Other things I am doing each week at home... (Write or draw)

I can try to remember that the government will make a decision when to go back to school when they think it is safe for us to do so.

They might make some things different at school, but lots of things will still be the same.

These people will help me get ready for that and tell me what will be the same or different so I know what to expect.

Until then I can carry on learning and playing at home. I can follow the rules and keep safe with the other people in my house. Well done me. That's great!
