

What an exciting night!

One dark night Andy and Mandy sailed out into the calm sea. They thought they might try some night fishing. After a while they were amazed to see a strange sight.

High up in the inky black sky above them was a bright flashing light. “Do you think it might be a spaceship?” said Andy. “Not so loud” whispered Mandy. “We don’t have any idea what it is. It gave me such a fright.”

The bright light flashed on and off above them as they desperately tried to work out what it was. Eventually they realised that it was only a lighthouse! They let out a sigh of relief and were delighted it was nothing to worry about. Mandy was so pleased that Andy was not right with his idea of a spaceship! They decided that they had had enough fun for one night.

They sailed home in the gloomy night and finally arrived safely home at midnight!
